Join us in Williamsburg! May 19-20, 2025 | Williamsburg Lodge

In 2023, close to 500 attendees from across the Commonwealth convened in Richmond for two days. They attended over 30 sessions that addressed a more Informed, Inclusive, and Innovative Aging Network. As our Steering Committee of leaders and advocates from across the state work to shape and finalize the 2025 program and theme, we are using those impactful conversations, sessions and connections as our foundation.

Virginia's population is becoming older and more diverse. Today there are nearly 1.5 million adults in the Commonwealth aged 60 and over, and this population will expand to more than 2 million by 2030 when the baby boom generation will be between 66 and 84 years old. Virginia's aging population is living longer due to the advances in health care; older Virginians with chronic conditions will need assistance longer while contributing as valuable resources, bringing knowledge to the work force and wisdom to communities.

As Virginia shapes its future as one of the best states to live in and do business, it also has leaders striving to create a leadership culture for caregivers and individuals aging in their communities. Being a great place to live encompasses valuing seniors.

Join all who see themselves as aging advocates for a two-day conference in Williamsburg that will yield recommendations to policy makers and create a vision for the future of aging in Virginia.
